Response to Arguments

1. Claim 17 has been canceled. Claims 15 and 16 are under consideration.
2. The rejection of claims 15 and 16 under 35 U.S.C. 101, because the claimed invention is not supported by either a credible specific utility or a well established utility, is maintained for reasons of record.
3. The rejection of claims 15 and 16 under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, as containing subject matter which was not described in the specification in such a way as to enable one skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and/or use the invention, is maintained for reasons of record.
4. Applicant argues that the utility for the claimed polynucleotides is the evaluation of androgen and anti-androgen activity of new drugs to be tested in pre-clinical trials. However, it is not clear that subjecting rats to new drugs and the subsequent measurement of the claimed polynucleotides would be indicative of modulation of androgen levels in the rats or direct modulation of the gene expression controlling the transcription of the claimed nucleotides, thus the specification does not provide objective evidence to support the claimed hybridization methods as a pharmaceutical screening tool.
5. The rejection of claims 15 and 16 under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention, is maintained for reasons of record. Applicant argues that one of skill in the art would know what the term hybridization means. This is not found persuasive. The word hybridization encompasses many different levels of stringency, leading to many different experimental outcomes. Without a recitation of claim limitations directed to the stringency of hybridization, the metes and bounds of the claims are unclear.

Conclusion

6. THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
